The Client's authorisation of the User to use the client portal will remain in effect until written revocation has been received by the Bank. e-Post can only be revoked if the User's authorisation is revoked at the same time. If the User is identical to the Client, e-Post cannot be revoked. An issued authorisation will not expire upon the death or incapacity of the Client, but will remain in effect until revoked in writing, irrespective of any statements to the contrary in commercial register entries or other publications.

Unless expressly stipulated otherwise, a revocation of or change to a User's authorisation according to the forms of the Bank will not alter the User's authorisations to use the client portal as set out above. Rather, any alteration of the abovementioned authorisation/s will require express revocation, as described in the foregoing paragraph.

Banking secrecy

The Client and/or user duly note/s that because of the way the Internet is designed, its use as a transmission medium means that data relating to the Client may be sent in an uncontrolled manner via other countries, even if the sender and recipient are both located in the same country (e.g. Switzerland). Swiss banking secrecy legislation is applicable solely to data situated in Switzerland. The legal systems of other countries will often not provide a level of protection for the Client's privacy which is comparable with the requirements of Switzerland legislation. The sender and recipient are identified on the Internet in unencrypted format. It is therefore possible for third parties to infer the existence of a banking relationship.

The Client and/or user also hereby accepts that notifications from the Bank which the Client and/or participant has arranged to receive separately via e-mail, text message, etc., are normally unencrypted, meaning that banking secrecy does not apply.
